A private aircraft complements the exclusive nature of luxury safaris, making it an ideal choice for families and friends traveling together who seek privacy and exclusivity.

A private aircraft allows for seamless transitions between destinations, preserving valuable safari time that would otherwise be consumed by commercial flight connections and multiple-stop safari commuter flights.

Additionally, it allows us to adapt your itinerary in virtually real time should circumstances dictate.

Start your day in Tswalu, surrounded by the captivating ochre-hued dunes that stretch across the Kalahari landscape, and finish with sundowners alongside the pristine waterways of the Okavango Delta. Continue the journey to South Luangwa, renowned as the birthplace of walking safaris, finally concluding your trip on the misty slopes of the Virunga Mountains, enjoying the pinnacle of wildlife experiences—the majestic mountain gorillas!

OUR STORY

YEARS AGO, THE OWNERS, RIAAN AND WILLEM FLEW AROUND SOUTHERN AFRICA IN A LIGHT TWO-SEATER AIRCRAFT. EACH FACET OF THE TRIP WAS PLANNED TO THE FINEST DETAIL. SCENIC FLIGHT ROUTINGS OVERFLYING ICONIC LANDMARKS CONNECTED THE BEST DESTINATIONS IN SOUTHERN AFRICA.

“Over the years, we have been on countless safaris and camping trips, but this two-week trip opened our eyes, and unfortunately no “normal safari” would ever be good enough again.

We spent each day in awe at the scenery unfolding below us. Shipwrecks, abandoned mining towns, seal colonies, the hauntingly beautiful yet frightening Skeleton Coast, buffalo herds in the Okavango Delta, and deserted trucks in the middle of the desert, to name a few. What fascinated us was that each of these sightings had their own unique story behind them. We stayed at luxury lodges, slept in rooftop tents on tin boats on the Chobe River, went on spectacular game drives, and visited remote villages interacting with the locals. The private aircraft allowed us to make unplanned stops at remote, isolated places for a quick lunch stop, a photographic opportunity, or to simply stand in silence and appreciate how small a place like the Namib Desert can make you feel!

In a sense, this trip ruined us, for no “normal” safari would ever be good enough again. Yet, more importantly, when we look back now, we realize this trip inadvertently exposed us to the world of experiential traveling and the personal joy created by meaningful, immersive experiences.”

From this trip, African Aerial Safaris was born. A company whose goal is to have a positive, meaningful impact on every single person that joins us on one of our journeys. To achieve this, we focus on what made that trip a once in a lifetime holiday – immersive travel experiences and active, meaningful engagements with each destination’s culture, people, and natural environment.

This is achieved by providing a truly personal service to each individual client. We take the time to understand their expectations and preferences to guide us when creating each itinerary.

Using the lessons we’ve gained over the years on countless safaris, during our aviation careers, and this trip, we create safaris of a lifetime!
